

adverb

A word that modifies
a verb, an adjective,
or another adverb:

She ran slowly.
The very slow race....
She ran so slowly.

Chapter Five: Adverbs

Sidney zoomed off the end of the page to some place in the author's mind. In a trace she had vanished like a sandwich.
Poof.

Poodle and What? could not believe it.
They walked to the page's edge and looked like sages down from that ledge, but they could not see Sidney anywhere below. Silence.

Poodle looked at What?.
What? looked at Poodle.
What? said, "What?"
But they knew what to do.
They jumped, too.

I'm serious.
