

At once
they knew something was wrong
with their song,
if you call it that.

It all started when Sidney began,
“I want to run and....”

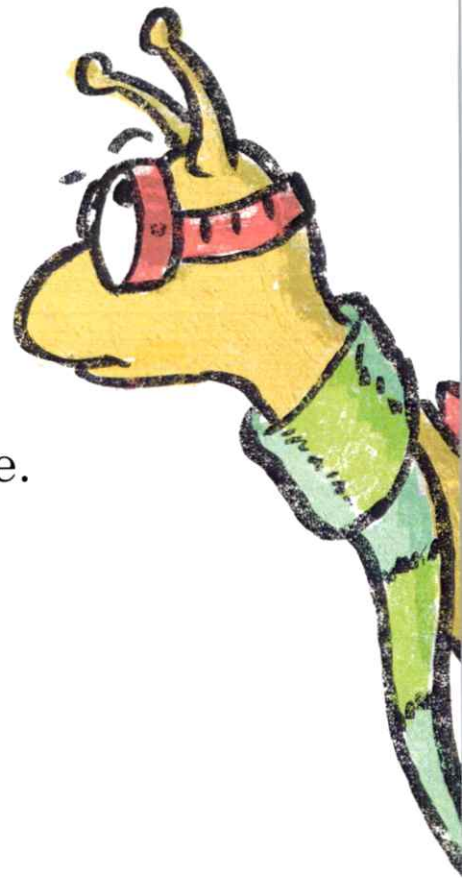

Having said that,
she looked perplexed,
befuddled, and she huddled close to Poodle.
Something was wrong
with her noodle.
That means head.

“Run and....”

“Run and what?” asked Poodle.

“I want to answer, but....”

She looked left and right,
searching for something,
but could not speak. Eek.

“To answer but what?” asked Poodle.

Off she zoomed in a flash
and landed back in a dash.

“Do not worry,” Poodle said.
“You should just relax and....”
Suddenly he looked startled.

“Relax and what?” she asked.

“And...and...what am I saying?”
he asked. They looked surprised, and Poodle advised
her to try again.

She tried:
“Dogs cats are friends.”

It still wasn't right.

“Which are friends?” Poodle asked.

