

Review Questions

1. The river uttered its soft sigh.
 - a. rhyme
 - b. assonance
 - c. consonance
 - d. alliteration

2. The river uttered its broken hope.
 - a. rhyme
 - b. assonance
 - c. consonance
 - d. alliteration

3. The river uttered its abrupt debriefing.
 - a. rhyme
 - b. assonance
 - c. consonance
 - d. alliteration

4. The river ran on steep feet.
 - a. rhyme
 - b. assonance
 - c. consonance
 - d. alliteration

5. We never heard a different word.
 - a. rhyme
 - b. assonance
 - c. consonance
 - d. alliteration

6. The monster uttered a great growl.
a. rhyme
b. assonance
c. consonance
d. alliteration
7. An on a mountain crooning bricks.
a. rhyme
b. assonance
c. consonance
d. alliteration
8. It was a valid, pallid salad.
a. rhyme
b. assonance
c. consonance
d. alliteration
9. Snow swirled and soaked the swamp.
a. rhyme
b. assonance
c. consonance
d. alliteration
10. The broken gravel cracked the tacky pit.
a. rhyme
b. iambic trimeter
c. iambic tetrameter
d. stopped consonants

Chapter Two: The Forest

Up they fell?

Seriously?

Once more, the author attempted to appreciate the situation.

He wrote:

As Poodle, What?, and Sidney fell up, they zipped past the curious girl and the pocketwatch rabbit (the watch—he was trying to grab it) with the I'm-late habit,
who were somehow falling down again.
The two groups flew past each other in opposite directions.

“Hello!” cried Poodle,
but the falling girl did not hear him,
and rabbits pay no mind.
They're in a hurry.

