Once, there was a speedy little pronoun named She.

She looked everywhere for a noun to replace,

but every noun She found said NO.

She asked George if She could replace him.

George said, "No, I am not She."

She asked Herman if She could replace him.

"No," said Herman, "I am not She."

Finally, She found Elizabeth, who was a very nice noun,

and Elizabeth said, "Yes, She,

you can replace me any time you want to.

We can be friends."

And that is how it was.
