

Do you remember that sometimes the verb is not an action verb?
What if it is a LINKING VERB?

When a linking verb makes an equation and says that the subject IS something, we call the other something a subject complement.