

Notice that a prepositional phrase does NOT have a subject and its predicate!

It usually just has a preposition followed by a noun or pronoun, or by an adjective and then a noun:

the boy on the dock,
a fish for him and her.