

In addition to sentence structure, there are also four sentence purposes: declarative, imperative, interrogative, and exclamatory—words that are self-explanatory. With that final detail, we can do full four-level analysis. Please study the following four-level analyses carefully.

1. Dawn pervaded the forest, and Thoreau stopped writing his book.

n.	v.	adj.	n.	conj.	n.	v.	n.	adj.	n.
subj.	AVP		D.O.		subj.	AVP	-----D.O.-----
							-----gerund phrase-----
-----independent clause-----					-----independent clause-----
an I,ccl compound declarative sentence

2. Talking tediously, Joe droned on as Henry longed to run away.

adj.	adv.	n.	v.	adv. conj.	n.	v.	-----n.----	adv.
		subj.	AVP		subj.	AVP	-----D.O.-----
-----participial phrase-----							---infinitive phrase---
-----independent clause-----					-----dependent clause-----
an ID complex declarative sentence

3. Thoreau ascertained that the neighbors bore him no antipathy.

n.	v.	pron.	adj.	n.	v.	pron.	adj.	n.
subj.	AVP	-----D.O.-----			subj.	AVP	I.O.	D.O.
no prepositional, appositive, or verbal phrases
-----independent clause-----				-----dependent (noun) clause-----
a complex declarative sentence								