

Three-Level Analysis

Now that we have studied parts of speech, parts of sentence, and phrases, we can do three-level analysis. Under each sentence below, identify the part of speech of every word on line one, the parts of sentence on line two, and the phrases on line three. Example:

Meeting you and him has been a real pleasure.

n. pron. conj. pron. v. v. adj. adj. n.

-----subj.----- -----LVP----- S.C.

-----gerund phrase-----

The object of the gerund is a compound pronoun; it uses object pronouns rather than subject pronouns because objects are objects.

1. Painting the fence pleased everyone except Huckleberry.

2. All of us loved celebrating her accomplishments.

3. Darius, the frightened emperor, saw the Macedonians.

4. When will you have stopped eating cookies?
